Megatrend Renaissance of Wisdom

Among trend analysts and futurists, the »Renaissance of Wisdom« is regarded as a megatrend in the mean time. Matthias Horx formulated in regards to our increasing life expectancy: »Ideally a culture could emerge which develops its core value system around wisdom. After all, a long biography needs content and purpose.«

World Cultural Heritage of the Wisdom Teachings World Community of Ideas

The »Renaissance of Wisdom« project is intended as a contribution to an emerging world community: to identify the everlasting foundations of human culture, treasures of wisdom and insight in the classical wisdom teachings, the world religions and integral sciences as a common core of universally recognized truths. These treasures are of such timeless value that they rank – just as the name of the foundation says – as a world cultural heritage: world culture as heritage and goal.

Title: Athena Fountain in front of the Austrian Parliament Building

An Imperial Commission was appointed to study the building of the Austrian Parliament in Vienna. The Commission decided that the style of the building should be classical Greek architecture since it is connected to the ideal of democracy. The architect Baron Theophil von Hansen designed the building as an ensemble, where each piece harmonised with the rest. One of the building's most famous features is the statue of Athena, the Goddess of Wisdom, a notable Viennese tourist attraction.

The Monograph Renaissance of Wisdom

The centerpiece of the »Renaissance of Wisdom« project will be the publication of a monograph in 2008. It will be a detailed, well-documented work in full color presenting a comprehensive understanding of all aspects of wisdom.

Through comparative research and synoptical documentation, the insights of the various wisdom traditions, science, art and music will be brought into a dialogue. In the light of this new and integral view, the similarity of the concepts will be evident and the seeming diversity of the historical doctrines will be superseded by an all encompassing and intelligent understanding that is harmonious with all.
